

Sweet dreams for little ones

Some of the national's favourite nursery rhymes have inspired a new collection of children's coffins and caskets from Colourful Coffins.

The latest designs feature words and illustrations from such well-known rhymes as Mary Had a Little Lamb, Star Bright Star Light, Little Robin Red Breast, and Jack and Jill.

Managing director, Mary Tomes, said: "When parents lose a young child they are sometimes comforted by the memory of nursery rhymes and tunes they sang or read together.

"The Twinkle Twinkle Little Star design in our existing range has always been one of the most-requested designs and we felt expanding the collection gave more mums and dads the chance to say a special farewell with words which really mean something to them."

The range will be available in both coffin and casket shapes and the designs will also be available on ashes caskets and memory boxes.

Colourful Coffins will also be unveiling an exciting new range of designs for both adult and children's coffins in its new 2009 catalogue, published later this year.
